

International Trauma Summit

November 28-30, 2018

Houston, Texas USA

The world is continuing to experience almost constant waves of violence, disasters and human rights catastrophes. Trauma and its potentially long-lasting effects are becoming major mental health crises in our world.

With the media focusing on the crisis in progress, we often forget the people experiencing that crisis and how they are left to survive during, and after those traumatic events. Those who survive may never get the immediate help they need and deserve; leaving their mental health compromised, and there are few services to assist them in their long term recovery.

To bring more attention to this issue and the ever-growing need for care for victims of trauma, we have created a platform for all levels of professionals, activists and trauma survivors to gather and discuss ways governments, United Nations System Organizations and Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs) can address this global crisis. We believe bringing all of these voices together to develop policies, there could be a united focus on the effect of trauma, which would encourage prompt intervention to minimize the extent of trauma induced disability and mental health concerns. This would enable people to live an optimal life and can interrupt the cycle of abuse and trauma.

We will address this task through Open Space Technologies. This format focuses on a specific-purpose or theme which is to develop a Call to Action for governments and NGOs around trauma. The three-day process begins without formal agenda, beyond the overall purpose or theme. All participants share equal voice in the process. This process is highly effective in bringing forth solutions to complex and overwhelming problems. The OpenSpaceWorld.org website states: "Open Space works best when the work to be done is complex, the people and ideas involved are diverse, the passion for resolution (and potential for conflict) are high, and the time to get it done was yesterday." Small groups develop notes about self-selected topics to share with the rest of the Summit participants. On the third day of the Summit, the accumulation of all the work done in the previous two days, produces the Call to Action as a guide and recommendations to Governments and NGOs and how to best disseminate this information. .
